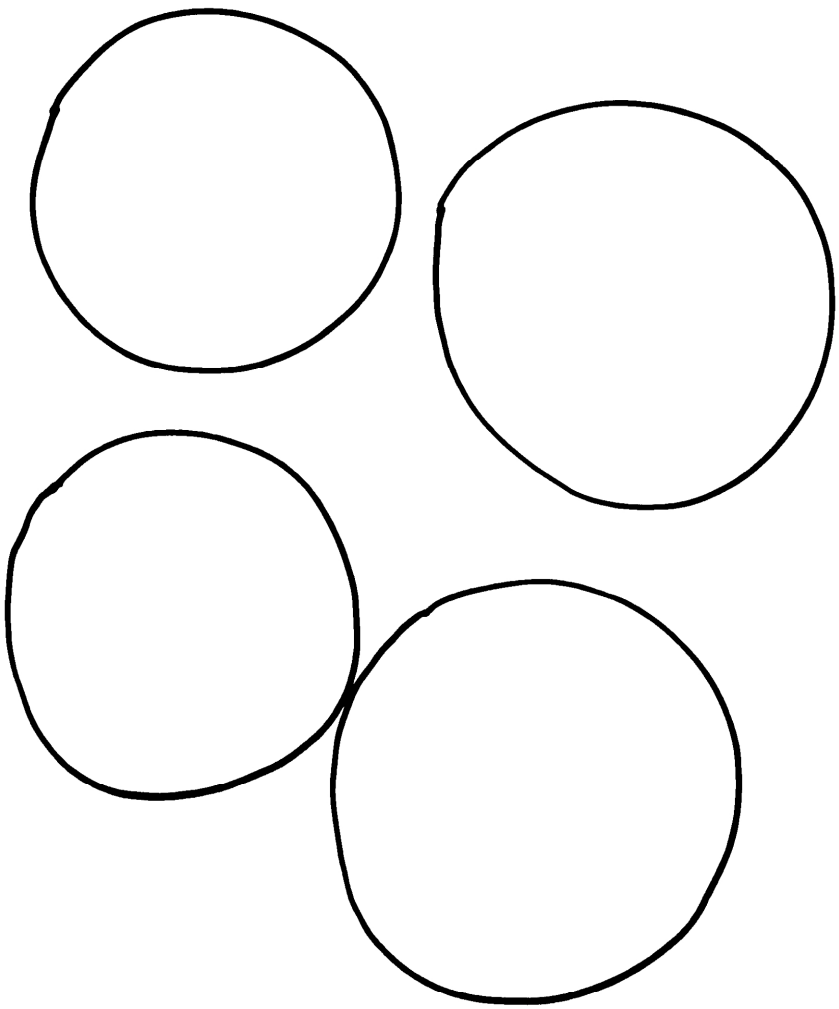
Bahá'í Activity Sheets

for kids

BY BRE VADER

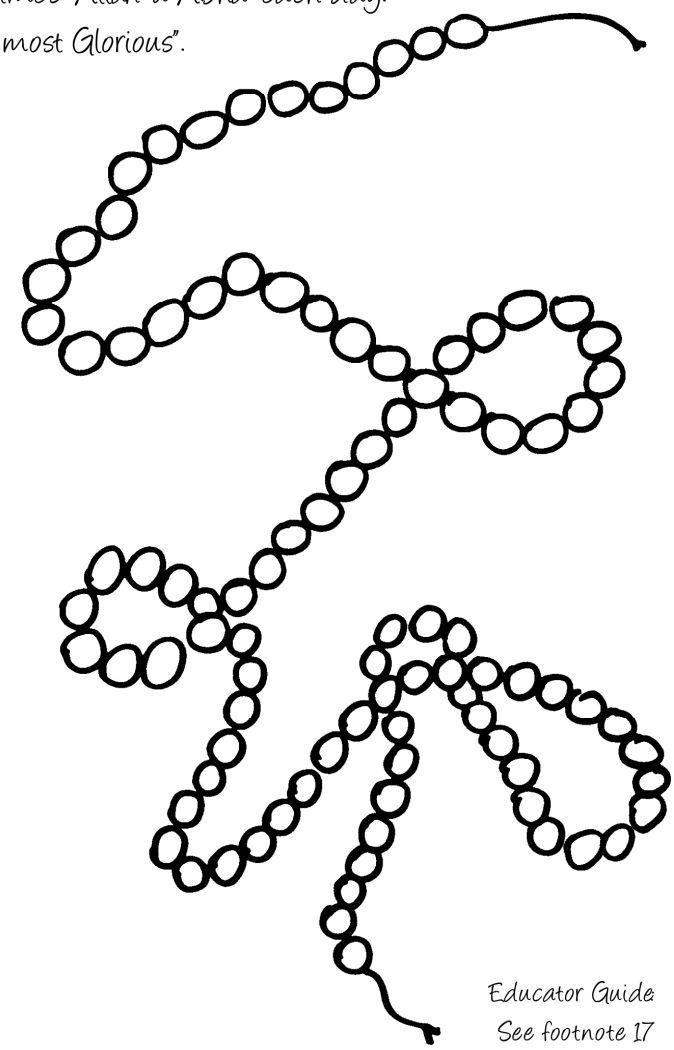
Bahá'u'lláh tells us that when we die in this world, we are born in the Kingdom of Abhá.
Draw what you feel when you think about the next world.

Educator Guide
See footnote 30



How kind, you baked cookies for Naw-Rúz!
Decorate these cookies for your friends and family.

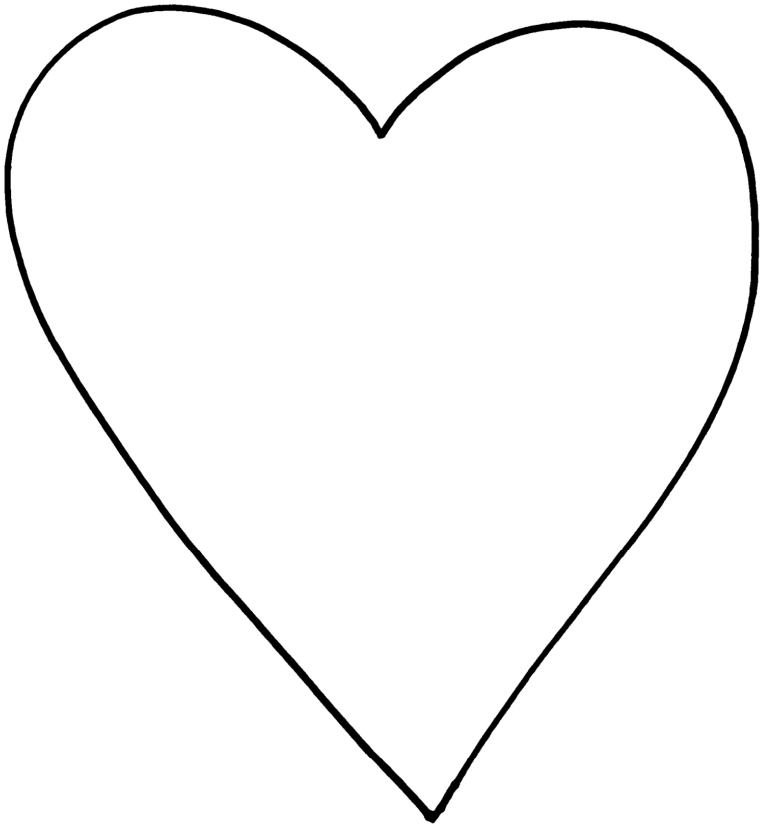
Bahá'u'lláh tells us to recite 95 times "Alláh-u-Abhá" each day.
Alláh-u-Abhá means "God is the most Glorious".
Color these 95 prayer beads.



Educator Guide
See footnote 17

"O Son of Spirit! My first council is this: Possess a pure, kindly, and radiant heart, that thine may be a sovereignty ancient, imperishable and everlasting."

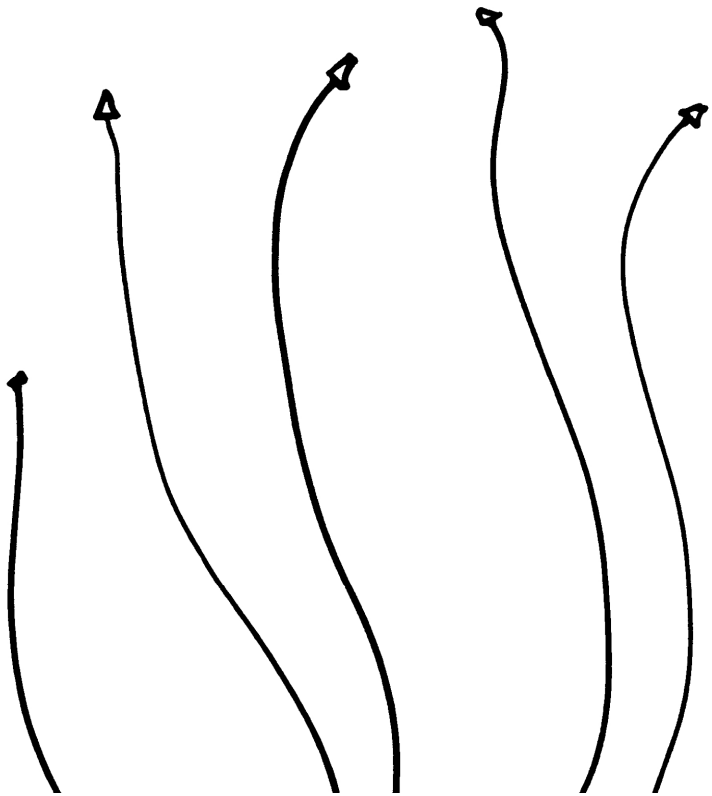
Bahá'u'lláh



Bahá'u'lláh tells us that we must care for our bodies.
Color these delicious and healthy fruits.

Educator Guide
See footnote 18

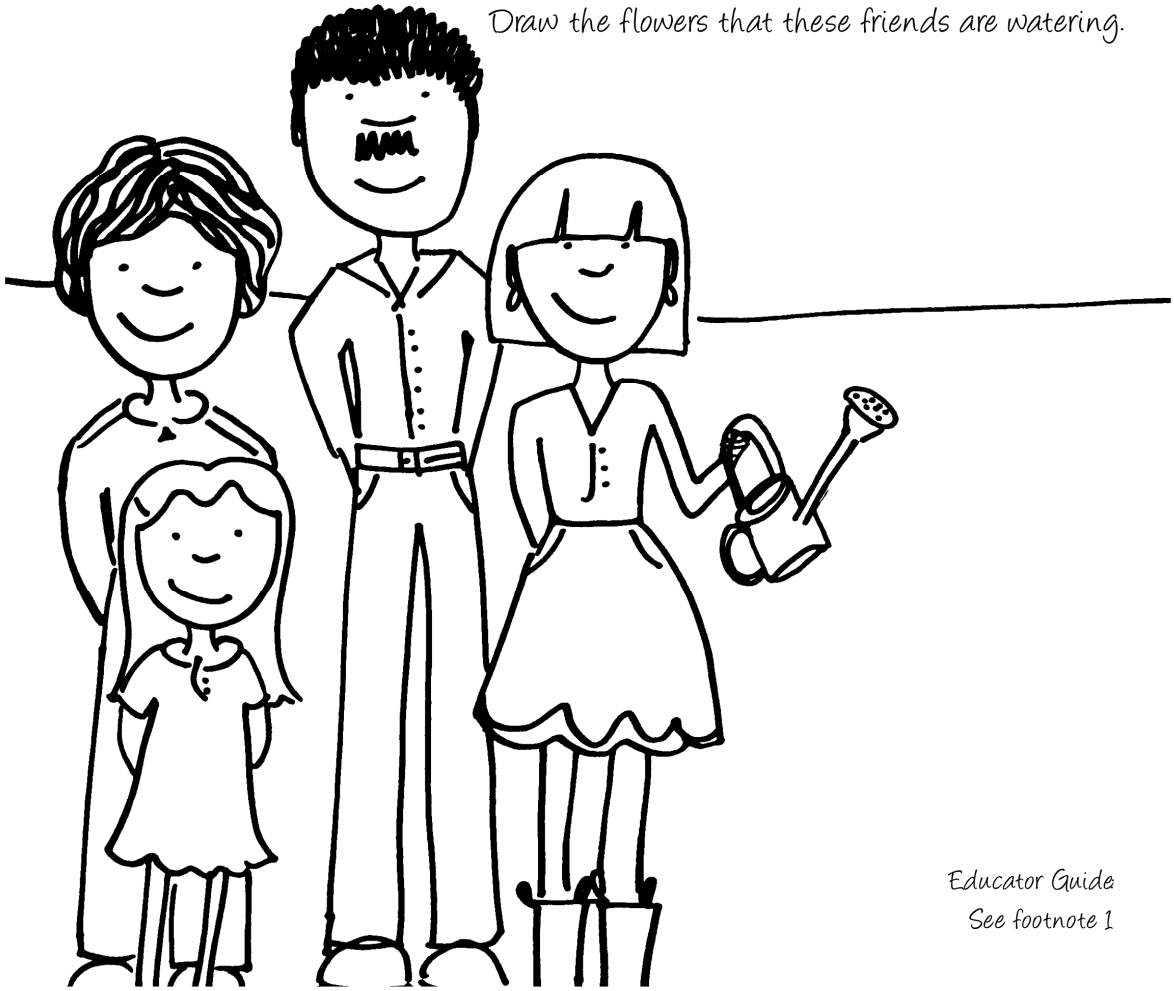
What color balloons would you like to see at the Naw-Rúz party?
Draw colorful balloons on these strings.



Educator Guide
See footnote 16

"Love ye all religions and all races with a love that is sincere and show that love through deeds and not through the tongue."
'Abdu'l-Bahá

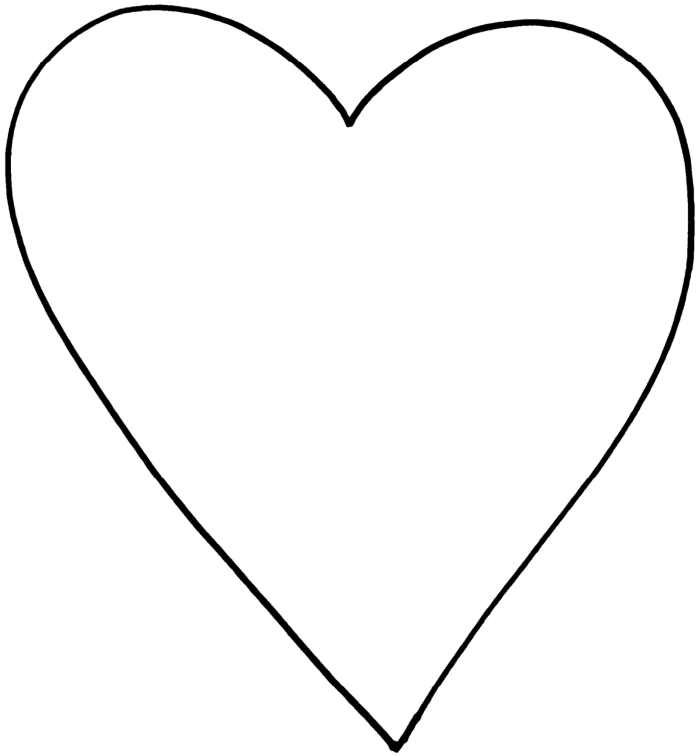
Draw the flowers that these friends are watering.



Educator Guide
See footnote 1

The first Bahá'í month is the month of Bahá, which means Splendor in Arabic. "Splendor" is like a brilliant light. Draw a brilliant star in all its splendor.

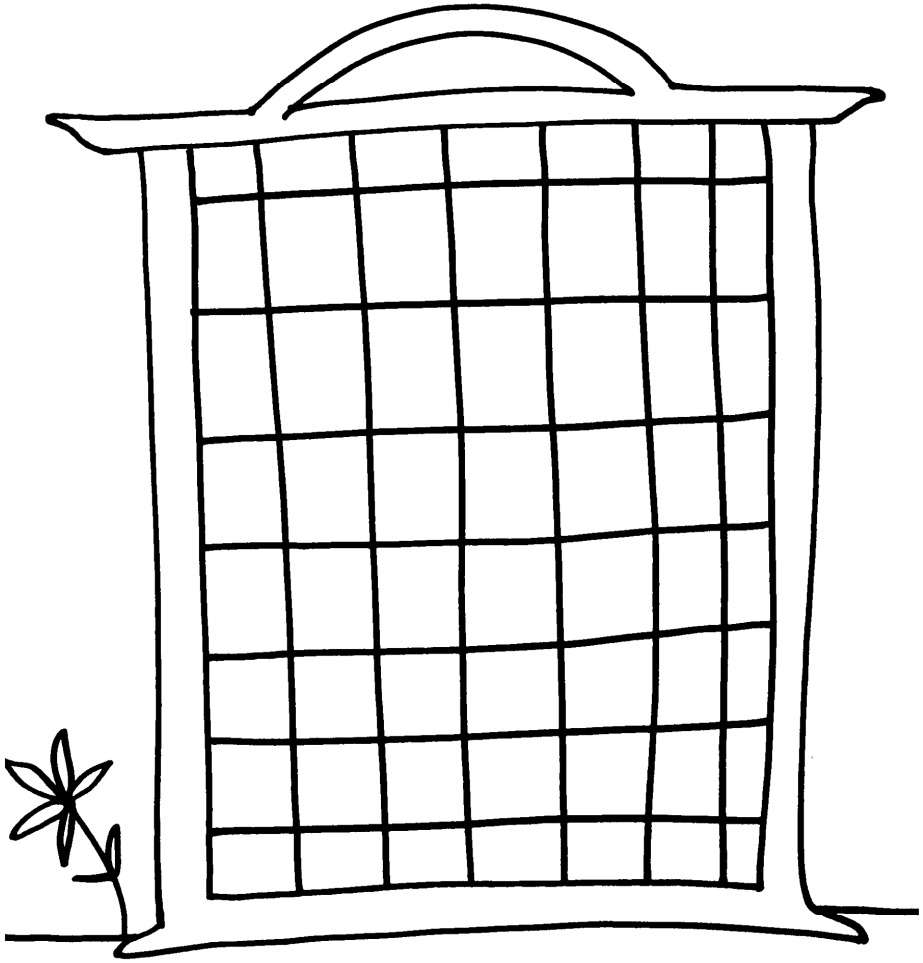
Educator Guide
See footnote 20



"O Friend! In the garden of thy heart plant naught but the rose of love."
Bahá'u'lláh

Draw a beautiful rose in this heart.

Educator Guide
See footnote 10



Draw some beautiful flowers growing up this trellis.